Farm and Garden

PROPER CARE OF EGGS.

Mistake to Hold Them For Higher Prices, Says Philadelphia Writer.

Where can the blame be properly placed for the presence of bad eggs in the markets? What are the causes?
The Kansas State Agricultural college places the blame, at least in part, with the farmer for the following two reasons: First, some few farmers deliberately take eggs to market which they know are not fresh, because they reason that the merchant is compelled to take them or lose their trade; second, and by far the greatest reason, is because of ignorance on the part of the farmer as to how to sell eggs, says a writer in the Philadelphia Record.

It is indeed a bad practice to trade off the eggs at the village store. Some merchants even offer 2 cents a dozen more for eggs sold for trade than they do those sold for cash. The price of goods is raised to meet the deficiency in the profit from the eggs.
The farmer makes almost nothing by the competition.

As these merchants take the eggs as they come, it is an incentive for some

TRAP NEST IN OPERATION.

farmers to make an extra effort to supply the merchants with all the eggs they can get, and all the weeds, orchards, barn lofts, etc., are forced to give up their sometimes rather ancient supply of eggs.

When the clean, fresh eggs are gathered they must be kept in a clean, dry, cool place until marketed. Good egg cases in such a place, kept up off the floor, make excellent receptacles for keeping eggs.

Holding eggs for better prices might look like a shrewd business move, but it is not. There is nothing that counts so strongly in a man's success as reputation, and the farmer upon whom great confidence is placed for marketing nothing but prime stock is the man that is sure to win out.

During hot weather eggs stale very quickly. Therefore it is advisable to collect several times a day. In fact, that rule is enforced the entire year on the farm of the writer--in winter to prevent their being chilled or cracked, in summer to avoid their being staled by heat.

The life of a fresh egg is generally computed at three days. Therefore to guarantee freshness they should be marketed two or three times a week.

Grading eggs according to size and color, endeavoring to have uniformity in each shipment, is a good business move, especially when a retail trade is being supplied.

If before marketing the farmer will candle his eggs he will not only feel doubly sure of their condition, but he can safely guarantee them. An egg tester can be purchased at any poultry

CAPON READY FOR MARKET.

supply house for about 35 cents. This will fit over an ordinary house lamp.
With this tester in a dark room the eggs can be easily candled.

An absolutely fresh egg when held up before the egg candle should be very clear and only the dim outline of the yolk be visible. There should be no air cell visible. Any other than that is not absolutely fresh. At the large end a clear space known as the air cell becomes larger as the egg grows older, caused by the evaporation of the water content of the egg.
If a dark spot is noticed it is either a rot or a developing germ. A red blood streak is caused by a dead germ. White streaks in the shell show that it is cracked. Thus eggs may be graded by candling into fresh, stale, cracked and rotten classes.

Instead of letting the hens run around anywhere in the weeds and lay their eggs, the farmer should provide proper nests for them. The trap nest is an excellent idea, and when Mrs. Hen gets used to this kind she will have no other. This care would improve the quality of the eggs, because the "outlay," so to speak, would always be discovered early.

Another source of profit which too many farm people ignore is the preparing of capons for the market. Gelding a male chicken always improves his flesh for the table, and it is well to put caponized fowls in a pen by themselves for fattening.

Railroads

We have 13,000 miles of railroad in operation. The average cost of transporting freight over the railroads of Texas last year was less than 1 cent per ton per mile.

1 Cent Per Ton Per Mile.

Railroad transportation saves 42 cents per ton per mile as compared with public highways, and illustrates the economy of improved methods of transportation. As a producer the farmer who hauls a bale of cotton twenty miles to the railroad gets the same price as the farmer who hauls it one mile, and as a consumer the farmer who hauls his goods twenty miles from the railroad to the farm buys them at the same price as the farmer who hauls them one mile.

Distance levies a penalty of time and money against the long haul which the farmer must pay.

Bringing the railroad to the farm reduces the cost of transportation and adds perpetual value to future production, says the Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association. A new railroad makes a free and equitable distribution of values to adjoining property estimated at $64,000 per mile.

Interurbans have practically the same effect on property values as railroads.

Texas has 4,955 miles of railroad per 100 square miles of territory, and Illinois has 21.8 miles per 100 square miles of territory.

The engines shown above represent the relative transportation facilities of the two States on basis of area. To equal Illinois in railroad mileage per square mile we would have to have 52,000 miles, and this increased mileage will provide facilities, cheapen the cost of transportation and develop the resources of the State.
